

The North Electric All-Relay System

This system is represented by a CX-100 (capable of serving 100 subscribers) housed in the original building of The Island Telephone Company's Frenchboro Central Office. This independent was once the country's smallest telephone company, located on an island off the coast of Maine. The building and equipment are intact and still functioning on our museum grounds.

The Frenchboro Central Office